

Charu Mazumdar and Kanu Sanyal – How Politics is to be Lived Therefore in line with Sirohi, and arguing in Marx, Lenin and Trotsky even Mao Zedong

By Charu Mazumdar and Kanu Sanyal (2025)

I. Actionist Stance

We mean be an actionist, it is an intellectual militant who can dialectical in that Epistlean Bible sense.

II. Practical Talking

I argue it explains everything and is perfect. No need to be waxing poetic like Trotsky, or being dogmatic like Mao.

III. Self-Evidence of Practical Talking and Praxis of Any Type

It all seems contradictory for Sirohi, how he is being political but it is also failing.

I mean this huffing and puffing on dialectics is Lenin and even Trotsky – they are not being dialectical enough they feel.

No it is self-evident that politics is correct and correct even for daily life.

Read in line with Marx – I mean Marx is clear and philosophical, he is clear-cut he meant and militant, and also means travel to the poor.

In this sense of first – aleatory political jottings, then on Paris Commune and then economic works coming in for divining capital and capitalist arguments – it shifts to recent politics and militant theses and also has Indian mass revolution type theses and finally this summary is full of David Harvey.

I mean politics is defined as highest life, thanking Sirohi for this, just express yourself as he says with Rodney in a recent crisis. Talk later.
